A full and clear anſwer to a book [entitled, The antient right of the commons of England aſſerted] written by William Petit, Eſq., printed in the year 1680. By which it appears that he hath miſtaken the meaning of the hiſtories and records he hath cited, and miſapplyed them; and that he hath added to, or taken from them, or left unrecited ſuch words and matters as he thought would either advance or deſtroy his aſſertion. With a true hiſtorical account of the famous colloquium or parliament, 49 Hen. III. and a gloſſary, expounding ſome few words uſed frequently in our antient records, laws, and hiſtorians. Together with ſome animadverſions upon a book [by W. Atwood] called, Jani Anglorum facies nova. [Anon.] 8° Lond. 1681.

An introduction to the old Engliſh hiſtory, comprehended in three ſeveral tracts. The firſt, an Anſwer to Mr. Petyt's Rights of the commons aſſerted; and to a book intituled, Jani Anglorum facies nova; the ſecond edition, very much inlarged. The ſecond, An anſwer to a book [by E. Cooke] intituled, Argumentum Antinormannicum, much upon the ſame ſubject; never before publiſhed. The third, The exact hiſtory of the ſucceſſion of the crown of England; the ſecond edition, alſo very much enlarged: Together with an appendix, containing ſeveral records, and a ſeries of great councils and Parliaments before and after the Conqueſt, unto the end of the reign of Henry the Third, and a gloſſary expounding many words uſed frequently in our antient records, laws and hiſtorians. fol. Lond. 1684.

A complete hiſtory of England, from the firſt entrance of the Romans under the conduct of Julius Cæſar, unto the end of the reign of King Henry III., comprehending the Roman, Saxon, Daniſh and Norman affairs and tranſactions in this nation during that time. Wherein is ſhewed the original of our Engliſh laws, the differences and diſagreements between the ſecular and eccleſiaſtic powers, the true riſe and grounds of the contentions and wars between the barons and our antient kings. And likewiſe an account of our foreign wars with France, the conqueſt of Ireland, and the actions between the Engliſh, Scots and Welſh, during the ſame time. All delivered in plain matter of fact, without any reflections or remarques. fol. Lond. 1685.

BRISTOL.

The tragedy of the kings armies fidelity ſince their entring into Briſtol together with the too late repentance of the inhabitants. Wherein is ſet forth their extreme plundering, rapes, murthers and other villanies committed by them upon the perſons and eſtates of his Majeſties moſt faithfulleſt ſubjects, abundantly ſufficient to convince the conſciences of all men that ſpeake ſo much in the vindication of them, their carriage being directly contrary to the articles of agreement for delivering up the ſaid city: the which articles are here ſpecified. 4° Lond. 1643.

A true relation of the ſtorming Briſtoll, and the taking the town, caſtle, forts, ordnance, ammunition and arms, by Sir Thomas Fairfax's army, on Thurſday the 11. of this inſtant Septemb. 1645. Together with ſeverall articles between Prince Rupert, and Generall Fairfax, before the delivering up of the caſtle, ſent in ſeverall letters to the Hon. William Lenthall, Eſq: Speaker of the Hon. Houſe of Commons, and read in the ſame Houſe. 4° Lond. 1645.

Strange and wonderful news from Briſtol: being a true relation, how ſeveral ſheep were found killed near that city; their bellies being ript open, and their fat only taken out of them, all the reſt of the carcaſs being left entire, in order (as it is to be feared) to the kindling more dreadful fires, for carrying on the horrid and damnable popiſh plot ... [July.] [No title-page.] fol. n. p. [1679.]

The loyal city of Briſtol, vindicated from Amſterdamniſm, or Devil's-borough, two appellatives occaſioned by the over credulous, who have hitherto taken it for granted, that the ſchiſmaticks and hereticks of all ſorts were more numerous than the truly loyal, orthodox, and liege people there. But at a late tryal of ſkill, managed by the more vigilant and worthy angel-guardian of that city, the point has been lately clear'd, and the churchmen for an earl have out voted the fanaticks for a knight ... 4° Lond. 1681.
